A Homing Pigeon

By Edgar A. Guest

En route for home your bird of flight
Took shelter on our roof last night,
And taken ue rose, long after dawn,
We found him on our patch of lawn
Searching the grauses cool and success
For something pigeons like to eat.

No doubt you watched for him all day And wondered if he'd gone astray, Or had some huster passing by With deadly skill and accurate eye Ended that pigeon's first long trip Merely to prove his marksmanship.

Although the fed him from her hand, We did not read his numbered band. Nor frighten him. These lines! writ To tell you when he ends his flight, And you his absence long discuss. He stopped to spend the day with us.
